

Our Roots

Languex founder Ebad Akbari was working overseas as a linguist when he realized there was more work than a single translator could handle and in many more languages than he could hope to translate. Looking out over a stacks of paperwork, all in need of fast and accurate translation, an idea was born. What if he could use the power of the Internet to bring together translators all over the world? What if together they could serve the dire need for quick, quality and affordable translation? Thus Languex was born.

Our Mission

At Languex, our mission is to provide inexpensive, fast, high quality translation to meet all your business and personal needs. As the world gets smaller, the need for fast translation of personal documents like Passports and Marriage Licenses is greater than ever. Businesses, meanwhile, continue to expand globally at a startling rate. Manuals, legal documents, product descriptions, process documents, and case studies all need to be localized for new markets.

Our Promise To You

Languex provides high-quality professional human translation of over 50 languages. We provide professional translations around the clock, any day, and any time . We specialize in providing business translations in many fields including legal, technical, websites, applications and software, marketing and more. Every day we grow Ebad's vision of a more connected world by breaking language barriers at the speed of life.
